Why Choose PTAC For Heating and Cooling Single Spaces?

If you are looking for an efficient and unobtrusive way to stay comfortable all year round, PTAC heating and air conditioning is certainly the way to go. Self-contained units powered by electricity, PTAC systems are designed to operate in single rooms, such as apartments, hotel rooms and offices.

Able to be installed inside or outside on wall mounts, the minimal need for duct work and comparatively small size (up to 40 inches long) makes them ideal for light commercial and residential use. Other benefits to packed terminal heating and cooling include:

Energy Efficiency Ratios can be as high as 12.2 compared to window units.

Simple maintenance with removable and cleanable filters.

Smart controls allow for flexible running times and energy saving.

Electronic temperature limits prevent excessive use.
